

Dear Sun Nuclear equipment user,

I am happy to announce an exciting new chapter of the Sun Nuclear story. We announced moments ago that Mirion Technologies, Inc., a global provider of innovative radiation detection and measurement solutions, has acquired Sun Nuclear.

Over the past four decades Sun Nuclear has emerged as the undisputed innovator and global market leader for Radiation Therapy and Diagnostic Imaging QA. Our commitment remains steadfast, and I believe that Mirion's shared mission in radiation safety and their demonstrated global operational excellence will propel Sun Nuclear forward through our exciting next phase of innovative product development and service of our expanding customer base.

Sun Nuclear remains dedicated to Radiation Therapy and Diagnostic Imaging QA and Dosimetry. Our commitment to developing the world's leading innovative solutions for independent Quality Assurance, with Patient Safety at the forefront, is paramount.

There are no changes to the Sun Nuclear brand name, our team, or our commitment to you. You can feel confident that this is a positive change that will ensure continued innovation and support for years to come.

Wishing you a healthy, safe, and wonderful new year.

Regards,

Jeff Simon

---